A telegram received here announces the mariage of a runaway couple on the south-bound Richmond and Danville train Tuesday night. The parties were Buck Caldwell, a native of Petersburg, Va., and Miss Ella Maud Richardson of Bon Air, near Richmond. The ceremony

Charge Against a Commission Merchant.

A requisition was received here today from Gov. Fifer of Illinois for the rendition of Andrew Bahmer, charged with embezzlement, and a warrant was issued, on which he was arrested this morning by Mr. Joyce of the marshal's office. The specific charge is that on December 2 last, in Christian county, Ili., he converted to his own use $1,000 of A. Cazlett & Co., the proceeds from the sale of corn.

Mr. Bahmer is a well-known commission merchant of this city and he protests his innocence. He has retained Mr. A. A. Lipscomb for his defense and when produced before one of the justices he will move his discharge.

Washington's Old Coat Brought $108.
The sale of the Washington relics was continued in Philadelphia yesterday. It consisted almost entirely of autograph letters, maps and broadsides. A letter signed by Washington, dated Mount Vernon, August 17, 1799, and addressed to Robert E. Lee, was sold to W. E. Benjamin for $420. A letter of Patrick Henry sold for $40. An Annapolis handbill giving the news of the battle of Lexington was sold for $65. Washington's inaugural coat brought twelve years' imprisonment in an interior town in Germany. His wife, Bertha, then came to New York city and married Mr. Behrends, who conducted an express business. Two months ago she expressed a desire to visit Ger-many. The husband acquiesced and furnished the necessary funds for the trip. She timed her visit to arrive on the other side on the ex-piration of her first husband's sentence. She carried with her Mr. Behrend's citizenship carried with her Mr. Behrend's citizenship papers, and this suggested something wrong. The latter has been keeping an eye on the barge office in New York and yesterday he saw his wife and her first husband land, using the papers for identification. A scene followed. He finally took the woman away, and the first husband was held and will be returned to Germany.
